

---

Nkomazi Voice website development

Posted by mahlamusa - 2008/03/03 15:27

---

To the webmaster of the Nkomazi Voice website, I would like to suggest the that:

All new publications should be included in the home page(Main page) of the website. Sometimes readers might miss some important stories because they do not see them in the main page, Since I started visiting the Nkomazi Voice Web page I see old stories, This is misleading because someone can think that there are no new stories published yet. In the web page, new stuff should be the first thing to appear and the old ones be included in the downloads page as previous publications. I think it would be a good Idea to show new stories in the home page, maybe include pictures and or summaries of the new stories and provide a link to the full story. You might say this is what is always done, yes its true, but what seem to appear the most is the old publications.

I hope you take this serious, not necessarily the webmaster, but any one involved in publishing on the website. If I failed to tell my story, Please forgive me this is the best English I can write.

Yours Lindeni Mahlalela
alias (mahlamusa)

=====